

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to apply for the MI Reporting Analyst position at Frasers Group Financial Services. With five years of experience in financial reporting, data reconciliation and operational analysis - including 2.5 years at Morgan Stanley - I am confident I can contribute meaningfully to your team from day one.

In my current role within Morgan Stanley's Prime Brokerage division, I produce daily and monthly reports, perform data validation and reconciliation, and support month-end close processes. I work extensively in Excel and VBA to automate reporting workflows, ensure data accuracy and deliver timely outputs to stakeholders. This experience maps directly to the responsibilities of this role, from preparing management information packs to maintaining reporting trackers and addressing variances.

Prior to Morgan Stanley, I spent 2.5 years at Mphasis as an operations analyst, where I developed strong foundations in data analysis, process improvement and stakeholder communication. Across both roles, I have built a track record of meeting regular deadlines, identifying trends in data and implementing improvements to reporting processes.

I hold an MSc in Investment and Risk Finance (Distinction) from the University of Westminster and a BSc in Accounting and Finance, giving me a strong numerate foundation. I am keen to deepen my skills in Power BI and data visualisation, and I am genuinely enthusiastic about applying my analytical experience within a growing financial services division.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background aligns with your team's needs.

Kind regards,
Nidhi Shetty
