

Dear Hiring Manager,

I am writing to express my strong interest in the Associate Treasury Analyst position at Sotheby's. With 2.5 years of experience in Prime Brokerage operations at Morgan Stanley and a solid academic foundation in finance, I am confident I can contribute meaningfully to your Treasury team.

In my current role at Morgan Stanley in Glasgow, I execute daily cash reconciliations across multiple currencies, manage counterparty payment processing, and deliver FX reporting as part of month-end close procedures. These responsibilities align directly with the core demands of this role - from daily cash reconciliation and bank reconciliation to FX reporting and payment management. I also process journal entries for trade settlements and partner with internal teams to resolve discrepancies, giving me practical experience in the cross-functional collaboration this position requires.

My BSc in Accounting and Finance from Mumbai University provides the foundational knowledge specified for this role, while my MSc in Investment and Risk Finance (Distinction) from the University of Westminster deepens my understanding of financial markets and cash flow management. I am proficient in Excel, including VBA, and have experience working within structured systems environments - skills that would support a transition to SAP.

What excites me about this opportunity is the prospect of applying my treasury and reconciliation expertise within Sotheby's unique environment. Supporting the financial operations behind a world-renowned auction house - where client transactions are high-value and time-sensitive - presents a compelling challenge that aligns with my experience in fast-paced, detail-driven settings.

I would welcome the opportunity to discuss how my background can support your team's objectives.

Yours sincerely,
Nidhi Shetty
